CHARLOTTE, N.C. (Feb. 2, 2026) — Six Flags Entertainment Corporation (NYSE: FUN), North America's largest regional amusement park operator, today announced a significant enhancement to its Gold season passes and memberships with the launch of regional park access, delivering even greater flexibility, variety and value for guests.

Additionally, the company will offer a limited-time spring promotion enabling guests to purchase a Gold season pass for the price of a Silver pass at select Six Flags parks. Full details, including pricing and valid dates, will be available on each participating park's website throughout the month of February.

2026 Gold Passes and Memberships Will Include New Regional Park Access

Typically providing access for the cardholder's local park only, Six Flags Gold season passes and memberships will include a significant enhancement in 2026. All Gold passes and memberships will include access to a designated group of parks within its geographic region, allowing guests to enjoy multiple destinations with one pass. The four pass regions include West, Texas, Midwest and East.

"We're redefining what a season pass or membership can be," said John Reilly, president and CEO of Six Flags. "By including multiple parks with every Gold pass, guests can explore more rides, more events and more experiences all with one affordable pass. We'll unlock more fun and adventure at an unbeatable value."

Throughout the month of February, regional benefits will appear on park product webpages and benefits grids as each region launches its new Gold benefit. Texas regional access launches today, with the other three regions to follow.
