Clorox Seeks to Expand Its Base of Diverse Suppliers and Diverse Spending

3/4/2010

March 1, 2010

The Clorox Company initiated a supplier diversity programs in 2008. While still in the early stages, we're making progress. In the first two years, we have more than doubled our diverse spend with certified suppliers to about 2 percent of total spending. We have also established a three-year strategy to increase our total diverse spend to 5 percent by 2013, and will strive to exceed that floor.

In the San Francisco Bay Area, our needs are greatest for certified diverse suppliers who offer goods and/or services in the areas of:

- facilities services
- talent acquisition/recruiting
- freight payments auditing

Since most of our spending occurs outside the Bay Area, where our manufacturing and other operations are located, we are also interested in certified diverse suppliers with the ability to offer large-scale, national services in the areas of:

- pumps
- power transmission
- bearings
- facilities services
