2026-09-14

DELRAY BEACH, Fla., Sept. 14, 2026 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- PetMed Express, Inc., dba PetMeds and parent company of PetCareRx (Nasdaq: PETS), today announced the appointment of Andrew Parry as Chief Technology Officer, effective immediately. Parry will lead the Company's technology strategy, platform architecture and engineering execution across its e-commerce, pharmacy and enterprise systems.

Parry brings more than three decades of technology leadership experience and joins PetMeds from The ODP Corporation, where he most recently served as Senior Vice President and Chief Information Officer, leading technology for the retail, business solutions and supply-chain units. In that role, he executed a multi-year initiative to embed generative AI and workflow automation across the business and led platform-modernization efforts including e-commerce and order-management. Prior to his appointment as Chief Information Officer in 2023, Parry spent nearly two decades at Office Depot in technology leadership roles of progressive responsibility across application development, customer-facing systems, and enterprise architecture and business intelligence.

"Andrew's track record modernizing complex, customer-facing platforms while driving real cost efficiency makes him the right leader to continue strengthening our technology foundation," said Leslie C.G. Campbell, Interim Chief Executive Officer and President of PetMeds. "His experience leading large-scale transformations in high-volume environments will be critical in driving execution discipline, delivery excellence and operational rigor."

"PetMeds has a 30-year legacy of making pet healthcare more accessible, and its pharmacy infrastructure and loyal customer base give it a strong foundation to build on," said Andrew Parry, Chief Technology Officer of PetMeds. "I look forward to working with the team to continue modernizing our platforms, leveraging technology to drive scale, optimize performance and enhance the customer experience."
