Purple Heart recipient presented the keys to his custom-built home in Tucson, Arizona

On April 24, Purple Heart recipient and U.S. Army Staff Sergeant Christopher Liby and his family were presented the keys to their newly built, mortgage-free home in Tucson. The family's new home features four bedrooms and was specifically built with accommodations in case Staff Sergeant Liby's combat injuries require him to use a wheelchair in the future. The home was gifted fully furnished with personal touches throughout. The Liby family's home was built in partnership with Building Homes for Heroes, a national nonprofit organization devoted to bringing renewed hope and service to injured veterans.

Staff Sergeant Liby joined the military coming out of high school, serving in the U.S. Marine Corps before joining the Army. While on patrol in Afghanistan with the Army, Staff Sergeant Liby and his unit were clearing an area of improvised explosive devices (IEDs) when one exploded under their Humvee causing him severe injuries. He was placed at a desk job for the remainder of his deployment and was medically discharged in October 2012. Since medically retiring, Staff Sergeant Liby has been working to help others, including a local rancher. His dream is to open a ranch for veterans, first responders and their families, and families of the fallen.

Navy veteran honored in Whitestown, Indiana with a Built to Honor home

On May 8, more than 200 PulteGroup employees, neighbors and community members welcomed U.S. Navy Petty Officer Second Class Robert Orr and his family to their new mortgage-free home in Whitestown. The Orr family's home features three bedrooms plus a loft and flex space. As a surprise to the family, the home was also gifted fully furnished by PulteGroup's professional design team with personal touches throughout, including bedrooms specially decorated for each child, a custom back patio with a grill for family cookouts, garage upgrades to give Petty Officer Second Class Orr a space to work on his car, and more. PulteGroup partnered with Operation Homefront, a national nonprofit providing relief and recurring family support programs and services to military families, to help build the Orr family's home.

After eight years in the Navy as a military police officer, Orr had earned the rank of Petty Officer Second Class. He had anticipated a long career in the Navy when he was diagnosed with a service-connected autoimmune disease that makes his body unable to regulate its temperature. Orr was medically discharged in March 2023. The suburb of Indianapolis appealed to the Orrs for its relatively cool climate and its proximity to Petty Officer Second Class Orr's family. Whitestown is also near one of the nation's top immune disease physicians.

Decorated USAF Veteran receives first Built to Honor home in the Southeast Florida region

On May 13, U.S. Air Force Master Sergeant Francis "Frankie" Reilly and his family were gifted a 2,685 square foot-plus, single-family home with four bedrooms and two bathrooms. Built specifically for them, PulteGroup added special upgrades to the Built to Honor home including a pool and custom rehab room in the garage with a built-in ice tub and refrigerator. Master Sergeant Reilly is a paralympic competitor in biking and will use the room after intense training sessions. PulteGroup awarded the home in partnership with Building Homes for Heroes®, a national nonprofit organization devoted to bringing renewed hope and service to injured veterans. This is the first Built to Honor home delivered in Southeast Florida.

Master Sergeant Reilly joined the military in 1994 and served honorably for 24 years before being medically retired. He was injured during a special operation while acting as a jumpmaster. Master Sergeant Reilly was also diagnosed with PTSD and TBI (traumatic brain injury) after a mission that left several fellow service members critically injured. For service to his country, Master Sergeant Reilly received over 25 medals. As he continues his recovery, Master Sergeant Reilly has become a paralympic cycling athlete and hopes to qualify for the Olympics.
