WesBanco Announces Increased Earnings for the Quarter and Nine Months Ended

September 30, 2003

WHEELING, W.Va., Oct. 16 /PRNewswire-FirstCall/ -- Paul M. Limbert, President & CEO of WesBanco, Inc. (Nasdaq: WSBC), a Wheeling, West Virginia based multi-state bank holding company, today announced earnings for the third quarter and nine months ended September 30, 2003.

Mr. Limbert stated that WesBanco's earnings per share increased 14.0% for the third quarter of 2003 to $0.49 compared to $0.43 for the third quarter of 2002. For the nine months ended September 30, 2003 earnings per share increased 4.0% to $1.31 compared to $1.26 for the corresponding period in 2002. Net income for the third quarter of 2003 increased 9.3% to $9.8 million compared to $9.0 million for the third quarter of 2002. Net income for the nine months ended September 30, 2003 increased 2.8% to $26.4 million compared to $25.7 million for the corresponding period in 2002. Return on average assets was 1.06% for the nine months ended September 30, 2003 compared to 1.14% in 2002 and return on average equity was 11.07% and 10.92%, respectively.

"WesBanco's results for the third quarter and nine months ended September 30, 2003 are beginning to show the impact of actions taken in the previous quarters to improve our net interest margin by increasing earning assets in the loan area as well as the overall reduction of our cost of funds through various deposit pricing and other balance sheet strategies," said Mr. Limbert. "The loan growth achieved to date in 2003 was mainly in commercial and commercial real estate loans, which increased $111.7 million or 13.8%. The growth is primarily due to increased loan demand in WesBanco's market areas from increased calling efforts, new and repositioned lending personnel and improved penetration of new markets in Southwestern Pennsylvania and Central Ohio. WesBanco also continues to reposition its balance sheet and adjust product pricing based on the fluctuations in market interest rates."

Net interest income for the third quarter of 2003 increased $0.9 million or 3.5% from the third quarter of 2002. For the nine months ended September 30, 2003, net interest income decreased $1.1 million or 1.4% compared to the corresponding period in 2002. The increase in the third quarter of 2003, as compared to 2002, resulted from adjustments to deposit rates, slower prepayment speeds in the loan and investment portfolios, increased loan volume and an increase to consumer loan interest income reflecting a $1.0 million pre-tax adjustment to the accumulated amortization of deferred origination costs incurred for certain indirect loans. The net interest margin decreased to 3.79% for the third quarter of 2003 compared to 3.86% for 2002. However, this rate decrease was more than offset by the volume of average earning assets increasing $158.8 million or 5.4%, compared to 2002. The net interest margin grew in the third quarter of 2003 to 3.79% as compared to 3.44% in the second quarter of 2003 and 3.65% in the first quarter of 2003. The decrease in net interest income, as compared to the nine months ended September 30, 2002, was due to a combination of factors including the American acquisition with its lower overall net interest margin, loan and investment security prepayments causing lower earning asset rates on the reinvestment of these cash flows and the sustained low interest rate environment, which has caused rate compression between loan and deposit pricing. These decreasing factors on net interest income were partially offset by the volume of average earning assets increasing $258.9 million or 9.3%, compared to 2002. The net interest margin was 3.63% for the nine months ended September 30, 2003 compared to 3.98% for the corresponding period in 2002. WesBanco's recent actions to reduce the cost of funds primarily through the reduction of rates on deposit products, the redemption and re-issuance of trust preferred securities in the second quarter at lower interest rates and the repricing of certain Federal Home Loan Bank borrowings, will contribute to lower future funding costs. However, with rates at historical lows, it will become increasingly more difficult to further reduce rates offered on new deposits.

Non-interest income increased $1.3 million or 19.0% and $3.9 million or 18.7% compared to the third quarter and nine months ended September 30, 2002. The increase related to growth in deposit activity fees, increases in ATM and debit card interchange income, bank-owned life insurance income and net securities gains. Trust fees increased $0.4 million or 17.3% and $0.2 million or 2.1% compared to the third quarter and nine months ended September 30, 2002. The increase was due to higher equity valuations and new account relationships and to a lesser extent, a new fee schedule for certain account types. The market value of trust assets under management was approximately $2.5 billion at September 30, 2003 and June 30, 2003, which was up from $2.3 billion at December 31, 2002, due primarily to a recent recovery in valuations in the equity markets. Net securities gains increased $0.6 million for the third quarter of 2003 and $1.2 million for the nine months ended September 30, 2003, compared to the corresponding periods in 2002, as WesBanco sold certain agency mortgage-backed securities and collateralized mortgage obligations exhibiting high prepayment rates.

The provision for loan losses for the nine months ended September 30, 2003 increased $0.2 million or 3.0%, compared to the corresponding period in 2002, primarily due to increased loan volumes. Net charge offs for the nine months ended September 30, 2003 decreased $0.8 million or 11.5% compared to the same period in 2002. Consumer loans comprised 57.6% of the net charge off activity for the nine months ended September 30, 2003. Non-performing loans as a percentage of total loans increased to 0.79% at September 30, 2003 compared to 0.56% at December 31, 2002. Most of this increase in non-performing loans was attributable to weakening credit characteristics for certain commercial real estate loans to the lodging industry as that sector of the economy has been particularly impacted by decreased business and leisure travel, and to a lesser extent, diminished repayment capacity for smaller businesses in general due to the prolonged economic downturn.

The allowance for loan losses was $26.2 million or 1.39% of total loans at September 30, 2003 compared to $25.1 million or 1.38% of total loans at December 31, 2002. The allowance currently provides coverage of 1.76 times non-performing loans and 1.12 times non-performing loans plus loans past due 90 days or more. Management believes the allowance for loan losses is appropriate based on its evaluation of the credit risk in the loan portfolio.

Non-interest expense for the third quarter and nine months ended September 30, 2003 increased $1.0 million or 5.2% and $4.1 million or 7.2% compared to the corresponding periods in 2002. The increase in the third quarter comparison consisted primarily of an increase in salary and employee benefit expenses resulting from rising health insurance, pension costs and to a lesser extent normal annual salary increases. For the nine months ended September 30, 2003, major factors influencing the overall increase in operating expenses included increases of $1.1 million in pension costs, $0.3 million in health insurance costs, $0.5 million in marketing expenses, $0.5 million in professional fees and a $0.6 million write-off of unamortized issuance costs associated with the redemption of trust preferred securities in the second quarter of 2003. Merger expenses related to the American acquisition decreased $1.9 million compared to the nine months ended September 30, 2002.

The provision for income taxes increased $0.6 million or 34.1% for the third quarter of 2003, compared to 2002, primarily due to an increase in pretax income, which increased the effective tax rate to 19.6%, compared to 16.6% for the third quarter of 2002. The provision for income taxes decreased $2.2 million or 27.9% for the nine months ended September 30, 2003 caused by a decline in the effective tax rate to 18.0%, compared to 23.8% for the corresponding period in 2002. The decrease in the effective tax rate on a year-to-date basis, as compared to 2002, was primarily due to an increase in state and municipal tax-exempt interest income and income on bank-owned life insurance, as well as the implementation of other strategic business and tax planning initiatives.

Total loans increased $60.1 million or 3.3% at September 30, 2003 compared to December 31, 2002. This increase was primarily driven by a $111.7 million or 13.8% increase in commercial and commercial real estate loans, as well as a $12.1 million or 2.1% increase in residential real estate loans, which were somewhat offset by a $63.6 million or 14.6% decrease in consumer and home equity loans. Total loans for the third quarter of 2003 increased $42.2 million compared to the second quarter of 2003 and $55.6 million compared to the first quarter of 2003. Growth in commercial and commercial real estate loans is a result of a greater focus on new business development in all markets. Residential real estate loans increased due to higher volume of new loans originated combined with a slowing of prepayments of higher fixed rate and adjustable rate mortgages following recent increases in longer-term interest rates. WesBanco originated $185.4 million of residential real estate loans during the first nine months of 2003 compared to $119.0 million during the same period in 2002. Consumer loans continued to decline as a result of strong competition from automobile manufacturing finance companies offering low or zero interest rate loans as well as buyer incentives in the new car segment and other factors that make consumer lending less attractive to WesBanco. The yield on loans continued to decrease in the third quarter due to lower rates on new loans and scheduled or negotiated repricing of existing loans at current historic low market rates.

Total investment securities increased $41.5 million or 3.5% at September 30, 2003 compared to December 31, 2002. The increase in investment securities was primarily funded by growth in core deposits and fixed rate Federal Home Loan Bank borrowings. Cash flows from the portfolio due to calls, maturities and prepayments for the nine months ended September 30, 2003 increased to $491.6 million compared to $175.7 million for the corresponding period of 2002. Cash flows decreased in the third quarter of 2003 to $141.5 million as compared to $198.4 million of the second quarter of 2003 as a result of slower prepayment speeds. WesBanco's tax equivalent yield on investment securities for the third quarter of 2003 decreased to 4.69% compared to 4.91% for the second quarter of 2003. At September 30, 2003, the available for sale and the held to maturity portfolio's weighted average life was 2.6 years and 4.9 years, respectively, which were similar to September 30, 2002.

Total deposits increased $62.1 million or 2.6% at September 30 2003 compared to December 31, 2002. This growth consisted of increases in demand deposits, interest bearing demand deposits and money market accounts, with the largest increase reflected in money market accounts, which grew $48.8 million or 9.6%, as customers continued to favor WesBanco's competitively-priced money market product. Savings accounts and certificates of deposit decreased $1.8 million or 0.5% and $15.1 million or 1.6%, respectively, compared to December 31, 2002. The average rate paid on deposits for the nine months ended September 30, 2003 decreased to 2.18% compared to 2.89% for the corresponding period in 2002, as WesBanco reduced interest rates on most of its deposit products. The impact of these reduced interest rates was evidenced by the average rate paid on deposits decreasing to 1.92% for the third quarter of 2003 compared to 2.23% for the second quarter of 2003.

Shareholders' equity remained strong at September 30, 2003 highlighted by a Tier I leverage ratio of 8.66% compared to 8.53% at December 31, 2002. Book value was $15.89 per share at both September 30, 2003 and December 31, 2002.

For the nine months ended September 30, 2003, WesBanco repurchased a total of 734,639 shares through its prior and current stock repurchase plans at an average cost of $24.42 per share. As of September 30, 2003, WesBanco had repurchased a total of 242,863 shares through the current one million share stock repurchase plan approved by the Board on April 17, 2003. The timing, price and quantity of purchases are at the discretion of WesBanco and the program may be discontinued or suspended at any time.
