(Nasdaq: WSBC), a diversified, multi-state bank holding company, announced today that it has been named to Forbes' 2025 Most Trusted Companies in America, one of just 300 public companies to make the list. This recognition is a testament to the bank's steadfast commitment to living its Mission, Vision and Pledge, which serve as its foundation and guide towards sustained success.

"WesBanco is honored to be included in Forbes' first-ever list of Most Trusted Companies," said Jeff Jackson, President and Chief Executive Officer. This distinction underscores our ongoing commitment to fostering genuine connections and delivering value to all those we serve."

Forbes' created its list of Most Trusted Companies in America in partnership with research companies HundredX, Signal AI and Glassdoor. The list combines data on a wide range of factors across four categories: employee trust, customer trust, investor trust and media sentiment—and is fueled by hundreds of millions of data points.

This accolade is the latest in a series of third-party recognitions for WesBanco for financial performance, customer and employee satisfaction and community reinvestment. In 2024, Forbes named WesBanco as one of America's Best Banks, and the Bank previously earned its eighth consecutive "Outstanding" FDIC Community Reinvestment Act Rating for its work meeting the credit needs of the communities in which it operates, including low- and moderate-income neighborhoods.
