The partnership will empower thousands of Sonida employees to transform care for nearly 10,000 residents. Sonida communities will rely on August Health to support proactive care strategies, benefiting from a range of modern capabilities such as intelligent care and documentation workflows, pioneering resident insights and streamlined compliance management.

Transitioning to August Health is a strategic move for Sonida as it builds on its 30% portfolio growth in 2024 and prepares for continued expansion. With proven ability to rapidly deploy its EHR, and its caregiver-friendly design, August Health is well-equipped to support Sonida's consistent growth while ensuring high standards of care.

“Sonida continues to identify and implement best-in-class solutions to support the quality of our resident programs and outcomes as the senior living landscape evolves and the Sonida platform expands,” said Brandon Ribar, Sonida President and Chief Executive Officer. “We appreciate the long-term vision to advance resident outcomes and dedicated service the August Health team brings to the partnership.”

The announcement follows extensive collaboration between the two companies. Many Sonida communities have already implemented August Health and rely on the platform to support daily operations and caregiving. In addition, Ribar became an inaugural member of August Health’s Advisory Board in 2024, while Chief Clinical Officer Tabitha Obenour served on a taskforce for The State of Senior Living: Clinical Leadership Survey, a new initiative by American Seniors Housing Association (ASHA) and August Health to elevate the voice of clinical leadership across the senior living industry.

“Our partnership with August Health has transformed our clinical operations by integrating a state-of-the-art EHR system that streamlines workflows, enhances care delivery and strengthens compliance,” said Obenour. “This platform equips our teams to work more efficiently, make data-driven decisions, and focus on what matters most—improving the lives of the residents we serve. Our collaboration with August Health reflects our dedication to innovation and delivering personalized, high-quality care to every Sonida resident.”

“From our earliest conversations with Sonida leadership, it’s been apparent that they are a forward-thinking organization that is committed to exceptional resident care, which includes onboarding best-in-class technology,” said Erez Cohen, Co-CEO and Co-Founder of August Health. “By partnering with one of the largest and most-respected operators in the industry, we’re further delivering on our mission of empowering as many caregivers as possible.”
